The Coscorrón Sisters Series

By Anna Cabeza. Illustrations by Toni Batllori and Gustavo Roldán.

A fresh, funny take on the cozy mystery genre for middle-grade readers.

Meet the Coscorrón Sisters: three elderly ladies with a flair for sleuthing, a love for justice—and a talent for getting into the most absurd situations. With their quirky charm, sharp intuition, and complete lack of subtlety, these unforgettable sisters take on baffling mysteries... often leaving chaos in their wake.

Perfect for young readers who enjoy laugh-out-loud humor, eccentric characters, and clever twists, this series combines classic detective storytelling with a truly original voice.

Genre: Cozy Mystery

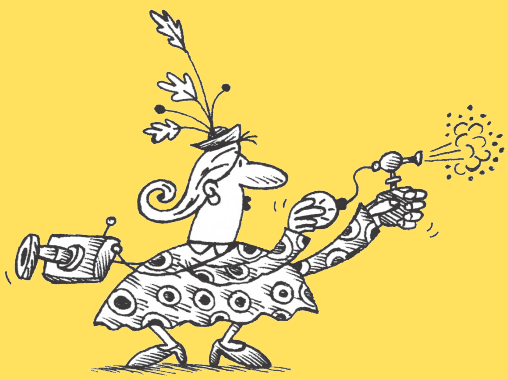

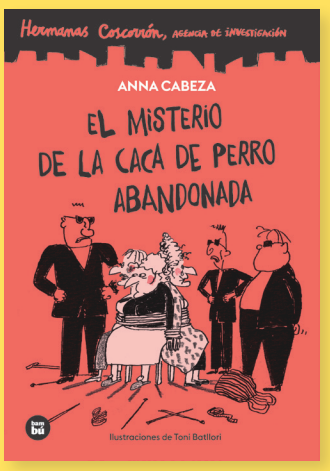

7. The Mystery of Secret Library

The Chatty Library is a very quiet place until the Coscorrón Sisters step onto the scene. Why? Because they're on a mission to investigate the mysterious disappearance of several books, with no one knowing how or why it's happening. They decide to go undercover in their own "discreet" way: Ascensión joins the romance novel book club, Carmen pretends to be a reader interested in cookbooks, and Rosalía borrows thousands of fashion magazines.

Will they manage to uncover who's slowly emptying the library? And what about Marcelo? Will he hide behind the shelves until he catches the thieves? Is this the only mystery... or are there more to come?

Shhh. Quiet, please. We are in a library.

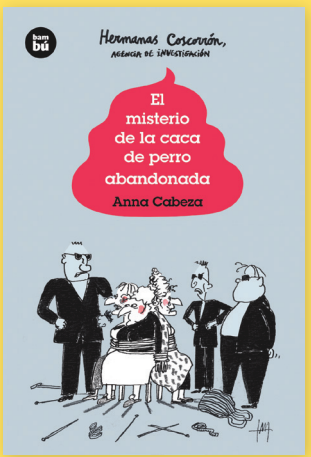

NEW COVERS, NEW HARDBACK EDITIONS

1. The Mystery of the Abandoned Dog Poop

Ascensión, Carmen and Rosalía aren't your typical grandmothers. They live with Marcelo, Ascensión grandson, and share an unusual pastime with him: solving mysteries. This is why they have decided to help their neighbour Margarita to find out who owns the dog that leaves poo in front of the door every day.Their investigation will interfere with the plans of some thieves who just robbeda neighbourhood bank, and these thieves don't even know what's coming.

2. The Mystery of the Sea Bass

The three oldest private investigators in children's mystery novels are back! Following the successful outcome of the first enigma of the abandoned dog poo, the Coscorrón sisters and Marcel launch their brand-new investigation agency. And their first job is a seemingly simple case, about those numbers when waiting your turn at market stalls, which are mysteriously repeated. But as we know, in the world of detectives nothing is as it seems at first glance..

3. The Mystery of the Flying Toilet Paper

The Coscorrón sisters have to travel to New York, where the International Granny Detective Conference is being held, the world's biggest conference of its kind. The Plaza Hotel is full of celebrities. Amid the hubbub there is a mystery: the hotel's toilet paper has all disappeared without explanation. The Coscorróns, Marcel and his new friend Max follow the trail of a culprit. Who will it be?

4. The Mystery of the Katastrophic F.C.

This time the oldest PI's of the children's mystery novels help their favourite football team. The Coscorróns, football coaches? The Katastrophic F.C. hasn't scored a goal for decades and if it continues on this path, will end up in the tenth division. And you will say, what does the 300th lost match have to do with a Coquette Croquette contest? In the world of the Coscorrón Sisters, anything is possible!

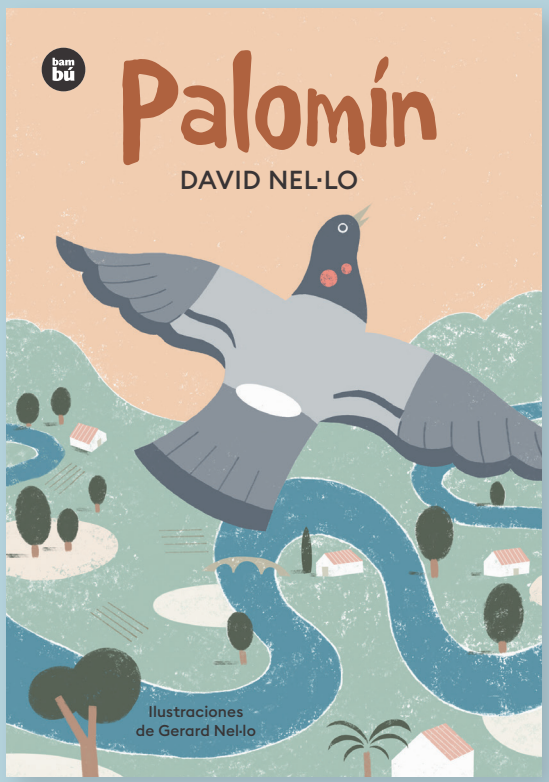

5. The Mystery of the Missing Mummy

The research agency is running so smoothly that the Coscorrón sisters and Marcelo decide to treat themselves to a vacation. They decide to go on a coach tour of Egypt. Everything seems to be going well until the coach suffers some strange breakdowns. The sisters can't help it, but investigate what is going on. But soon things get even more complicated: it turns out that an international organization of evildoers intends to plunder the tomb of the pharaoh on the sly! Will they succeed?

6. The Mystery of the House of Terror

Gustavo Roldán picks up the baton of Toni Batllori's legacy to give life to the Coscorrón sisters. They share the stroke of the line, the fine sense of humour and the acute observation of reality.
The head of the amusement park that has been installed in the city requires the services of the Coscorrón sisters. For some time now, the attractions have been suffering inexplicable power cuts that cause more than one scare. When they begin to investigate, they see that strange movements are taking place in the horror house.

Palomín

The novel tells the story of Colombí, a country pigeon living in Sant Miquel de Fluvià, in Empordà, who spends his days among other birds exploring the natural world around them. One day, a pigeon from Barcelona arrives and tells dazzling stories about city life, awakening in Colombí the desire to see more of the world.

Encouraged by his blackbird friend, he decides to fly to Jaraíz de la Vera, a village in Extremadura. There, Colombí befriends two storks and experiences several adventures before deciding to return home. When he does, he rediscovers his familiar surroundings—but now with a more open, curious, and adventurous spirit, shaped by everything he has seen and learned along the way.

Why the Tiger is Afraid of Fire. Myths and Legends of the Americas

Since ancient times, the peoples of Latin America have created mythical stories to explain nature: why rabbits have long ears, deer have antlers, or jaguars fear fire. These narratives, passed down through generations, reflect the beliefs, landscapes, and cultural and natural diversity of the region.

This anthology gathers treasured tales, selected and adapted by renowned children's and young adult literature specialist Ana Garralón, recipient of the 2016 National Award for the Promotion of Reading.

About the author:

Ana Garralón (Madrid, 1965), aka Ana Tarambana, is a writer, bookseller, and expert in children's literature. Since the late 1980s, she has studied and worked with children's books, publishing works such as Historia portátil de la literatura infantil and Leer y saber. She collaborates with institutions across Spain and Latin America and received the 2016 National Award for the Promotion of Reading.

A Magician at Court

In late 19th-century Madrid, Ventura Ulloa, truly Ventura Herraméliz and daughter of the Counts of Lantarón, flees an arranged marriage and hides her noble origins while working at the renowned confectionery La Riojana. As she builds a new life, she meets Leandro, a mysterious magician in the service of the newly crowned King Amadeo I. When she discovers that his magic blends illusion with science, Ventura is drawn into a world where an unconventional love begins to grow against all odds. Through their story, the novel reflects the political and social transformations of the era.

The Armored Chamber
One-Act, Seven-Scene Action Comedy

The Armored Chamber, Lalana's first play and the inaugural title in Bambú Editorial's theater catalog, is a comedy in the tradition of Spanish absurdism. Written to be read rather than staged, it follows a bungled bank heist that traps two inexperienced robbers and a group of quirky hostages in a vault. Full of humor and absurd twists, the play invites laughter and reflection, holding up a mirror to human folly with wit and insight.

About the author:

Fernando Lalana, Bambu bestselling author, has won the Premio Gran Angular fiction prize three times. In 1990, he received an honourable mention in the Premio Lazarillo and the Premio Barco de Vapor, in 1993 the Premio de la Feria del Libro de Almería. In 1991 the Ministry of Culture gave him the Premio Nacional de Literatura Infantil y Juvenil, for which he had been a finalist in 1985 and again in 1997. In 2013, he was added to the Edebé 2012 prize and the Premio Hache in 2019.

Candela Series

By Reyes Martínez. Illustrations by Mercè López

Adventure, mystery and many riddles to solve!

1. Candela and the Mystery of the Open Door

When returning from school, Candela always passes in front of a house covered with vine. Candela has always kept her distance, fearfully picking up the pace, but today a disturbing detail has called her attention: the glass door to the balcony on the first floor is ajar. And if that isn't enough, she also seems to hear a whispering voice. Is there anyone in the house?
Curiosity can be stronger than fear, and Candela obeys her instinct and crosses the threshold to find out what or who is enclosed within its dilapidated walls.

2. Candela and the King of Paper

Can you imagine living in a world of paper?
Fearless Candela is back with new adventures full of folds and origami figures. And what's origami? It is paper folding in Japanese.
One rainy Saturday morning of November, Candela and her friends decide to visit the Science Museum. The current exhibition features curious folding-paper objects. But somehow at the castle gallery, Candela gets caught in a whimsical universe of paper....

SEPTEMBER 2026

3. Candela and the Dream Cook

When Candela discovers that the world has lost the ability to dream, she's drawn into a hidden realm ruled by mystery and danger. Guided by Damián, the enigmatic Dream Chef she meets at a holiday hotel, Candela is tasked with restoring the stolen dreams and saving Three Lands from collapse. To succeed, she must uncover four secret elements scattered across a shifting dream world.

The Lead Key

Carlo Fabretti

The book tells the story of Grandfather Thirteen and his grandchildren. Severo, a rich and sullen man, gathers his grandchildren in his mansion to test them and decide who will inherit his fortune. After following the clues, the most generous and grateful are chosen.
Thanks to the inheritance, they will be able to fulfil their dreams: to open an innovative school and a sugar-free candy factory. But the most important part of the grandfather's legacy will not be financial, but the possibility of dreaming a different future. And above all, to be able to share it.

Núria Pradas Thrillers

Gripping mysteries with suspenseful twists and psychological depth.

The Swan Song

Mia and Greta are best friends. They've known each other since high school and now share a flat in Barcelona. But one night after partying, Mia can't take it anymore and with all her rage she shouts at her friend: "I wish you would die right now". What happened? How could they end up like this? The next day, Greta's lifeless body is found. Mia doesn't know what to do and is also in danger. Who has been following her?

She

Joel Traver was considered the young promise of investigative journalism, but excessive ambition quickly put paid to his aspirations. Now a diet fiend, he drags his failure around the television talk shows. It seems that nothing is going to change in his professional future, but then Ella appears and says she knows of a case that needs a good investigative journalist: a candidate for mayor of Barcelona is a murderer. What will Joel Traver do?

The Mystery of Wisteria Road

How is it possible for a boy to disappear without a trace right in the middle of a city? His brother and his girlfriend start a search to discover the mystery. An inquisitive would-be writer and a policewoman join them in their intriguing adventure. The evidence brings them in to Wisteria Road, but, what is the mystery in that road?

Black Soul

Laura Castillo is kind of a "weird" girl. At thirteen, she is bored and thinks she is ugly and... "too brown". Black Soul is a green-eyed beauty with jet-black hair. She is one of the stars of Teen World, the virtual world where thousands of teenagers like Laura go to avoid reality. A group of rebel avatars led by the smug and arrogant Klar Pink has started sabotaging the game. Laura and Black will discover that despite appearances, they share a lot in common.

Detective Escartín Series

By Fernando Lalana

A series that combines irony, thriller and mystery

1. The Tunnel-Borer

Timeless romance classics

Iconic love stories that speak to every generation.

Pride and Prejudice, Romeo and Juliet, and The Tragicomedy of Calisto and Melibea span very different historical worlds—from Renaissance Italy and late medieval Spain to Regency England—yet share a common core. Each portrays young love constrained by the social rules, class divisions, and family expectations of its time.

Romeo & Juliet

R L Stevenson
Illustrator: Fernando Vicente

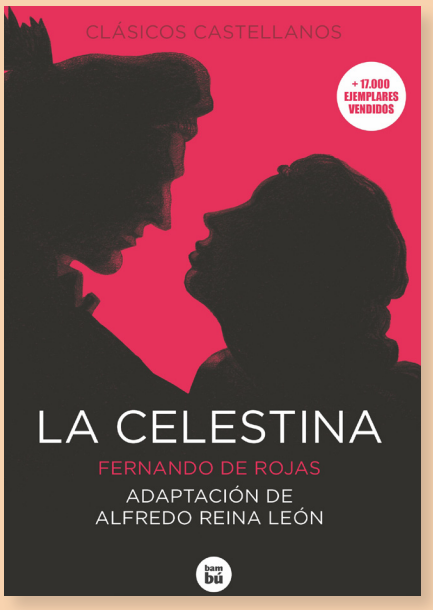

When love perches on the branches of fate, nobody can stop it. His name is Romeo, and he is a Montague; she, Juliet, is a Capulet. The children of two rival noble families of Verona, they don't have it easy but know they are made for each other. This truth has made them the most celebrated lovers in literature.

Pride & Prejudice

James Austen.
Illustrator: Jordi Vila Delclòs

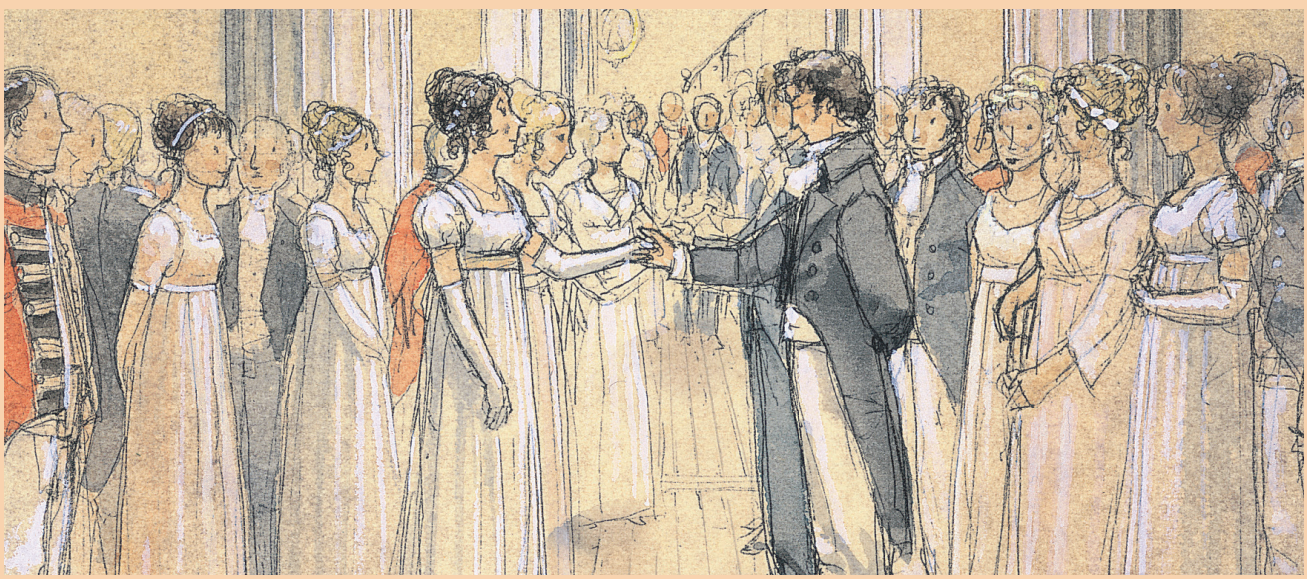

Mr. Bingley, a young, handsome, wealthy bachelor. Mrs. Bennet is thrilled, as her main goal is to find a good match for her five daughters. But Elizabeth, the most independent of the Bennet sisters, is more intrigued by Mr. Darcy, Bingley's friend, a rather proud and mysterious man.

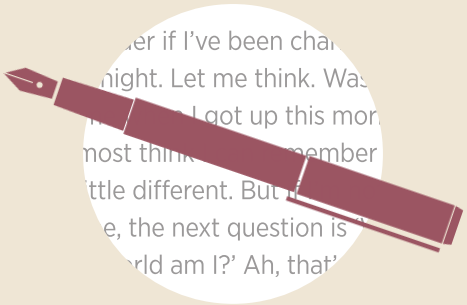

The Tragicomedy of Calisto and Melibea

Fernando de Rojas
Illustrator: Enrique Lorenzo

Calisto and Melibea, Romeo and Juliet, and countless other anonymous couples, whose existence we know only from graffiti carved into the bark of some forgotten tree, have been and continue to be victims of impossible love. The failure of love moves readers across all ages, because it is a sublime yet fragile feeling in which we all
